Dear Valued Customer,

On May 14, 2009, Precision Replacement Parts Quality Management System was Certified to the ISO 9001:2008 International Standard (Certificate No. P051409). Developed by the International Organization of Standardization (ISO), ISO 9001:2008 is a globally-recognized standard that emphasizes the incorporation of quality management principles that drive continuous business improvements, resulting in total customer satisfaction. PRP's Quality Management System was audited and certified by Verisys Registrars, a leading independent and accredited registrar, who found that our Sales, Manufacturing, and Distribution Operations are all designed to ensure compliance with customer expectations and requirements.

The certification with ISO 9001:2008 recognizes that the policies, practices and procedures of our corporation ensure consistent quality in the services and assemblies we provide our customers. With this certification, our customers can be confident that PRP is dedicated to maintaining the highest degree of total customer satisfaction.

Sincerely,

The Precision Replacement Parts Team

PRP will earn business by demonstrating continual improvement in our products, processes, services and employees.
